

Kids with character

Akron
Children's Hospital

Charles Truss, a senior at Kenmore High School, has been selected as a Kid with Character because of his demonstration of many character pillars. Charles is very active at Kenmore High School, giving his time and serving as a role model for the entire student population. Charles is a peer mediator and is known for his fairness, common sense and mediation skills. He is trusted by the students and is often requested to be present at mediation sessions. Charles also is the leader of the Kenmore Buddies (subgroup of Peer Mediation) who talk with 4th graders at Sam Salem Elementary about making positive choices. Charles develops the agenda and coaches his co-mediators as they plan for their visits. Charles also is very active in the music program at Kenmore High School. He is in the Select Choir, the Intermediate Choir and the Madrigal singing group. Charles is involved in My BAD (Better Academic Decisions). As a member, he helps tutor other students and talks with them about decisions necessary for academic success. Because of his own academic success he was able to attend Boy's State. He is involved with the United Baptist Church Youth Leadership Program and Perkins Square Health Service Organization.

Thank you Charles, for being dedicated to your community and school.

Charles
